À propos Gravita, lampe de table par Antonio Macchi Cassia – Stilnovo

Adjustable table lamp, The luminaire in the form of a chrome « spot » moves on the glass sphere by a judicious magnet system. The construction of this chromed metal spot and its magnet system giving the illusion that it is integrated into the blown glass sphere. An indirect light escapes from the base which constitutes the counterweight. Original electrification. Two incandescent bulb lamps. (1xE27, 1xE14). Designed in 1969, Gravita could not be produced for technical reasons. Our model produced around 2000. Stilnovo having produced a few examples on an experimental basis.
